Working with the Resilience Circle opened my eyes to resources and solutions – both for ourselves and for others. I find it a good instrument that helps us to go on an exciting journey of discovery to the sources of our strength, effectively, structured, and with pleasure. It also helped me find creative ideas and approaches for consulting work and personal resilience.

METHOD

Resilience Circle Training (RCT) after the Bamboo-Principle®

Our passion to bounce forward

In the Bamboo Resilience-Circle-Training, developed by Ella Gabriele Amann, we describe key characteristics that help teams and their leaders in dealing with crises, problems and stress. We use the bamboo resilience principle to cultivate more creativity and health at work.

The Bamboo Principle has always stood for a successful strategy for dealing with turbulent times: bending with the wind instead of breaking. The bamboo allows mobility and flexibility, at the same time, it is also deeply rooted, stable and steadfast.

- Be prepared for the unknown
- Be flexible and adaptable
- Deal with stress and strain in constructive ways
- React with ease and emerge from crisis empowered
- Act more effectively at home and work
